Data protection laws require us to have a legal reason for holding and using your personal data. The most likely legal bases we will use to process your personal data will be Legal Obligation or Contract. In some circumstances we may use protection of your Vital Interests, Public Interest or if not in relation to our public task, Legitimate Interests. If we have no other legal basis for processing, we may seek your consent.

We may disclose to and share your personal data with third parties for the purposes set out in this notice, or for purposes approved by you, including the following:

- If we enter into a joint venture with or merged with another business entity, your information may be disclosed to our new business partners or owners;
- If we complete a regulatory return in relation to the Management Committee;
- If we are investigating a complaint, information may be disclosed to solicitors, independent investigators such as auditors, the Scottish Housing Regulator and other regulatory body involved in any complaint, whether investigating the complaint or otherwise;
- Your information may be shared with internal and external auditors.

Your information will only be stored within the UK or EEA.

When we process your personal data, we will take steps to make sure that it is kept secure and safe. All personal data which is stored electronically is access controlled or digitally encrypted. Where a physical copy of any data is stored, it is stored in a locked filing cabinet or drawer.

We review our data retention periods regularly and will only hold your personal data for as long as is necessary for the relevant activity, or as required by law (we may be legally required to hold some types of information), or as set out in the contract we have with you.

You have rights in relation to your personal data and can ask us for the following:

- To access information about the personal data we are processing and to obtain a copy of it;
- To change incorrect or incomplete data;
- To erase or stop processing your data (in certain circumstances);
- To stop sending you marketing messages; and
- To object to certain processing activities.

These rights are qualified and are not absolute.

If you would like to exercise any of your rights, please contact the Director.

If you remain unsatisfied after your complaint has been processed by us, you also have the right to complain to the Information Commissioner's Office in relation to our use of your information. The Information Commissioner's contact details are below:
